

More About 4-H Youth Development

Scioto County 4-H is a family affair. Everyone becomes involved in the learning, the business and the fun.

- Learning To Learn - learning through experience
- Self And Others - working as a team
- Relating To Others - accepting diversity
- Communicating With Others - creative expression
- Planning And Organizing - setting short and long-term goals

4-H'ers learn through experience in various ways:

- Community involvement - volunteer time to help community needs
- Life Skill Projects - develop self-esteem and lifetime interests
- State & National 4-H Trips - educational and develop leadership skills
- State 4-H workshops - develop skills to plan and lead groups
- School Enrichment Programs - helps teachers develop the "whole child," not just teach subject matter
- Cloverbuds allows 5 to 8 year old children to become involved with 4-H on a non-competitive basis

Scioto County 4-H Program - Year 2006 Statistics:

- Involves 1,153 county youth led by 319 adult volunteers.
- We offer over 200 different 4-H projects.
- Our 4-H clubs are spread throughout the county and we can help you find one in your area!
